Haynes Family of Programs provides education resources and therapeutic services for children facing psychiatric, emotional, behavioral, or learning challenges that hinder their attendance in regular public schools.

PROBLEM

The Haynes Family of Programs provides specialized treatment and educational services to more than 2,000 children and families each year. As a result, Haynes has extensive copy and print needs spread across residential and mental health programs as well as the Haynes Education Center. When CEO Dan Maydeck searched for ways to reduce copy and print costs while improving service, Revolution Office provided the solution.

SOLUTION

Revolution Office completed an extensive review of Haynes' equipment technology and associated services. This assessment led to a number of key insights that allowed for meaningful cost reductions and improved service. Revolution Office implemented a plan to upgrade the fleet while paying off all remaining lease obligations.

RESULT

The Haynes Family of Programs saved $250,000 and received a state-of-the-art copy and print fleet. With Revolution Office on board, the overall service experience improved dramatically. A 97% uptime level meant Haynes saw improved reliability and gains in productivity, allowing their team to stay focused on the mission of treatment and education.
