

TURNING POINT SCHOOL

From Print Complexity to $120K in Savings

“

We were in the middle of an existing copier lease and we thought we were stuck with our high costs. Revolution Office surprised us with a solution that included the payoff of our remaining obligation, an upgraded fleet of devices and a 45% reduction in cost. I highly recommend getting a quote from them.

Turning Point School is an independent, coeducational institution in Culver City, California, serving students from preschool through middle school. Known for its student-centered approach and focus on whole-child development, the school emphasizes academic excellence, character, and creativity in a nurturing environment.

PROBLEM

Turning Point School was managing a complex copier/printer setup with multiple brands, separate contracts, allowance pools, and invoices. This fragmented approach added both administrative burden and unnecessary costs, especially while they were still locked into an existing lease.

SOLUTION

Revolution Office worked closely with Turning Point School to streamline their copier/printer environment under a single, simplified contract. Our solution included paying off their remaining lease, upgrading outdated devices, and introducing time-saving services like automated toner replenishment. The plan consolidated everything under one brand and one agreement—eliminating confusion and reducing overall complexity.

RESULT

Turning Point School saved $120,000 by consolidating their fleet and cutting costs by 45%. With the operational burden lifted, the school was able to shift focus back to what matters most—their students.
